I have checked Vigo County, Indiana, Marriage Licenses from 1818 to 1850 and Parke County, Indiana, Marriages, Book A but didn't find Isreal Butler listed. The courthouse in Parke county burned in 1832, and it's possible that the marriage record of Isreal and Rebecca was destroyed. Book A of the marriage records covers the years 1833-44.

Mount Vernon is in Posey county on the Ohio River, and this seemed to be a favorite route for pioneer travelers. They would cross the Ohio into Indiana from Kentucky and then go north on the Wabash River to Parke county. Maybe Isreal and Rebecca were married before they went north. It might be a good idea to check for marriage records in Posey county and in the nearby Kentucky counties. The Willard Library, 21 1st Ave., Evansville IN 47710, has a genealogy collection which includes Posey county.

In checking the 1820 Indiana census, I noticed that there were three Butler families in Posey county, two of which had a male between the ages of 16 and 25 as well as an older man. If Isreal was born in Posey county, he could have been in one of those households.

I also checked Parke county land records abstracted in 1949 by Mrs. Herbert Brown, hoping to find a date when Isreal came to Parke county. I found a mention of "Bazel Butler and Eleanor his wife" and "Israel Butler and Rebecca his wife" selling land in 1833. This may be when they moved to Putnam county. I also found a land entry for Bazil Butler, then a resident of Owen county, in 1825. Isreal may have come about the same time as they were probably related in some way. You could get copies of these land records from the Recorder's Office, Courthouse, Rockville IN 47872. You might also try for marriage records in Owen county in case Isreal was there before he came to Parke county.

Have you been able to find an obituary or a death certificate for Rebecca? If her marriage record went up in smoke with the Parke county courthouse, you may have to use another approach to find her maiden name.

Dear Sir:

Dorothy Jerse, Curator of the Vigo County Historical Society
had suggested that you may be able to help me.

Do you have any resources which might help me find the date and location of the marriage of one set of my great-great-grandparents--

Isreal (or Israel) Butler to Rebecca _____ ?

Perry

Isreal was supposed to have been born in either the Mount Vernon, Indiana, area or in Kentucky in either 1798 or 1799. He died in Putnam County, Indiana, in 1851. Rebecca (whose maiden name I do not know) was born in 1809 in Kentucky. By 1830 they were living in Parke County, then moved to Putnam County where Isreal died. Rebecca died in Kansas in 1893.

The marriage date and location and Rebecca's maiden name is my immediate concern but I do hope to find more about both Isreal's and Rebecca's ancestry. I have searched county and genealogical records in Parke, Putnam and Clay counties.

Thank you for whatever help you can give me.

Yours truly,

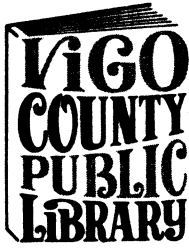

Mrs. Ralph C. Wentz

I am enclosing a research report listing the sources we checked for your ancestors. Since we found so many Butlers and Armours listed in the index to the various Vermillion county histories, I am also sending copies of the index pages. Even though you have the O'Donnell books, you may be interested in some of the others.

I think the Lewis Butler who was listed near John in the 1874 Vermillion county directory was probably his brother. They were near the same age, and both born in Ohio, and both came to Vermillion county the same year. Perhaps the Beckwith Butler listed on the 1850 census was another brother.

Have you looked for probate records for Lawrence Butler? Those should list his heirs. They should be available from the clerk's office in the courthouse in Newport. They may also be available through branch libraries of the LDS church as many Indiana courthouse records have been microfilmed and deposited in Salt Lake City.

If you would like copies of any of the items on the research report, our charge is 10¢ per page plus postage.

You might be able to contact other researchers through the genealogical query column in the local newspaper. The address is: Genealogy, Dorothy Clark, Terre Haute Tribune-Star, 721 Wabash Ave., Terre Haute IN 47808. The Daily Clintonian, 422 S. Main St., Clinton IN 47842, does not have a query column, but a letter to the editor might get a response.

We have very little on the Armour/Amour family and nothing on the Arrasmith family, so we could use anything you wanted to send for the files.

There was a Methodist minister named John W. Parrett in Newport. My great-grandfather was named Parrett Haun in his honor because he was the minister who married his parents.

101, 107,

Dear Ms. Sherrill,

Some time ago the Indiana Genealogical & Historical Society Genealogist published a list of family histories on file in your library. More recently, the Dec. 1987 Sycamore Leaves gave your name as a contact person.

I am searching for Butler and Armour (Amour) family information. My John Butler, b. ca 1813 OH (s/o Lawrence and Hannah Butler? from VA) married #1 Mary Jane Armour (Armer or Arner or Amour) (b. 1818 PA d/o William & Ruhama who settled in Eugene, Vermillion Co. IN 1826). John m. #2 Rebecca Arrasmith & #3 Elizabeth Brown Bates. (all in Vermillion Co. IN.) They were primarily in Vermillion Co. Indiana (buried at Thomas Cemetery, Newport), but may have crossed over into Parke. Lawrence Butler is in Vermillion Co in 1840 census. I have checked land records there, but not in other counties. I need to establish if John was indeed s/o Lawrence & Hannah, and to determine the rest of Lawrence's family. If there are materials on these names, I will be happy to pay for photocopying charges. Please advise me of the costs. Thank you for your assistance!

Sincerely,

P.S. I own O'Donnell's histories of Vermillion Co. IN.

P.S. It occurs to me that I should let you know about some other family information that was gathered by my grandmother, in the event there are descendants who might be interested. I will attempt to put together some family-data files for deposit there in the near future on the Arrasmith families. Some of the correspondence that has been handed down includes a letter from an elder Parrott (Parrette) ca 1850's (I will have to look it up). They seemed to be family friends with Arrasmiths in the Newport area ^{and earlier in Putnam Co.}. Also, a McCrea who was a teacher at Elgleston School, Vermillion Co., ^{ca 1880} wrote many letters from Texas and later California in which he inquires as to the well-being of former area acquaintances. Copies of these letters should be on deposit, perhaps both in Texas and in Indiana. If you are interested therein, or in more specific information about them, please let me know.

General William Butler

Carrols Illustrious Son

News-Democrat 1-24-74

Carroll County's most illustrious son was likely General William Orlando Butler, for whom Butler State Park was named; one of the famous Butler family, heroes of the American Revolution, the War of 1812 and the Mexican War as well as distinguished civil services.

The Butler family originated in Ireland where the grandfather of General Butler, Thomas Butler was born in Kilkenny on April 8, 1720. Of his five sons, Richard, William and Thomas were born before his emigration; while Percival (or Pearce) father of the Carroll County Butlers and Edward were born in Pennsylvania. All of the Butler sons were officers in the Revolution except Edward who was too young (but entered it before it closed), and all rendered important service.

Gen. Percival Butler, who was the forebear of the Carroll County Butler family, was born at Carlisle, Pa. April 4, 1760. At 18 years of age he entered the Continental army as a lieutenant; was at Valley Forge with Gen. Washington; in the battle of Monmouth; at the taking of Yorktown; attached for a short time to a light corps under LaFayette, who presented him with a sword. In 1784 he emigrated to Kentucky and married Miss Hopkins, sister-in-law of Col. John Todd, who commanded and perished in the fateful battle of Blue Licks.

He settled as a merchant at the mouth of Hickman creek and the Kentucky river in Jessamine County, but removed in 1796 to the mouth of the Kentucky River (then Gallatin County) where most of the land was a cane-break. He was made adjutant general of Kentucky when she became a state, and in that capacity joined one of the armies sent north in the War of 1812; and did his full part. He died in 1821, aged 61 years and was buried in the Butler cemetery at the mansion in Butler Park.

General William Orlando Butler, the second son of General Pierce Butler, was born in Jessamine county on April 19, 1791; graduated at Transylvania University, 1812; postponed the study of law to volunteer as a private in Captain Nathaniel S.G. Hart's company at Lexington; was elected corporal, and marched with the relief column to Fort Wayne. He was promoted to Ensign in Col. Wells' 17th U.S. Infantry; in the two battles of the river Raisin, Jan. 18 and 22, 1813, he distinguished himself by self-devotion and daring was wounded and taken prisoner. He was captain of the 44th U.S. Infantry in the attack at Pensacola; on the battles at New Orleans on Dec. 23, 1814 and Jan. 8, 1815, General Andrew Jackson said that he "displayed the heroic chivalry and calmness of judgment in the midst of danger, which distinguished the valuable officer in the hour of battle." He received therefore the rank of brevet Major; was an aid to General Jackson, 18/ 6-17; resigned, studied law, practiced at Carrollton and married a daughter of General Robert Todd.

He was a representative from Gallatin County in the Legislature in 1817-18; was a Representative in Congress from 1839-43 and refused to be a candidate for a third term. He was the Democratic candidate for governor of Kentucky in 1844 and reduced the Whig majority to 4,624. On June 28, 1846 was appointed Major General of Volunteers raised to support General Taylor in his invasion in Mexico. He acted an important part and was wounded at the battle of Monterrey, Sept. 19-24, 1846 and in subsequent events in Mexico. On Feb. 18, 1848, Butler succeeded General Scott in the chief command of the army in Mexico until the treaty of peace, May 29, 1848.

General Butler was nominated for vice-president of the U.S. on the Democratic ticket, with General Cass but was defeated by Taylor and Fillmore. In 1851 he was supported by the Democrats in the Kentucky legislature for U.S. Senator but was defeated by the Whigs.

General Butler's last public service was as a commissioner to the "Peace Conference" from January 29-Feb. 27, 1861 at Washington, D.C. to attempt to pacify the contingents in the Civil War.

He enjoyed retirement after this time, cultivating his farms and practicing law in Carrollton and living in his house on Highland Ave. It is not in the Butler mansion in the park, believed by many to be his home; that he lived most of his life in Carrollton, but the graceful house on Highland now owned by Miss Mary Masterson.

General Butler was not only an outstanding lawyer, a statesman and philanthropist but was also a poet and writer of note. Childless himself, his home was the center for all the children of the neighborhood who were entertained by his stories and anecdotes.

One of the general's most famous poems, the "Boatman's Horn," first published about 1835, follows:

"O boatman! wind that horn again,

For never did the list'ning air

Upon its lambent bosom bear

So wild, so soft, so sweet a strain!

What though thy notes are sad and few,

By every simple boatman blown,

Yet each is pulse to nature true.

And melody in every tone.

How oft, in boyhood's joyous day.

Unmindful of the lapsing hours,

I've loitered on my homeward way

By wild Ohio's bank of flowers;

While some lone boatman from the deck

Poured his soft numbers to that tide

As if to charm from storm and wreck

The boat where all his fortunes ride!

Delighted nature drank the sound,

Enchanted echo bore it round

In whispers soft and softer still,

From hill to plain and plain to hill,

Tell e'en the thoughtless frolic boy,

Elate with hope and wild with joy,

Who gamboled by the river's side,

And sported with the fretting tide,

Feels something new pervade his breast,

Change his light steps, repress his jest,

Bends o'er the flood his eager ear

To catch the sounds far off, yet dear--

Drinks the sweet daughter, but knows not why

The tear of rapture fills his eye.

And can he now to manhood grown,

Tell why those notes simple and lone,

As on the ravished ear they fell,

Bind every sense in magic spell?

There is a tide of feeling given

over

The Butler Mansion was built by Philip Turner and his wife, Mary Eleanor Butler, on land settled by the Butler family in 1796. The house, now a part of General Butler State Park, is of the Federal style and is furnished with period pieces of Kentucky workmanship.

To all on earth, its fountain
heaven,

Beginning with the dewey
flower,

Just ope'd in Flora's vernal
lower--

Rising creation's order
through,

With louder murmur,
brighter hue---

That tide is sympathy! Its

ebb and flow

Gives life its hues, its joy
and woe.

Music, the master-spirit
that can move

its waves to war, or hush
them into love--

Can cheer the sinking sailor
and the wave,

And bid the warrior on!
Not fear the grave;

Inspire the fainting pilgrim
on his road,

And elevate his soul to claim his God.

The boatman, wind that
horn again!

Though much of sorrow
mark its strain,

Yet are its notes to sorrow
dear;

What though they wake
found memory's tear!

Tears are sad memory's
sacred feast,

And rapture oft her
chosen guest.
